

ONLINE TEACHING CERTIFICATION

Certification Message Blurb for faculty

Online instructors are strongly encouraged to enroll in our Online Faculty Learning & Development course, which has lots of helpful information to get you started. Please use the following link to enroll: Online Faculty Learning & Development. Once you enroll, click “Required Trainings” from the Home Page to learn more and sign up for our in-house trainings, or submit a training waiver.

For your convenience, you may also refer to the list below for the required online teaching trainings.

1. REQUIRED: Online Teaching & Learning Pedagogy Certification (LBCC Teach Online Seminar 3.0).
The options are:
 - o Option 1) This requirement is met by completing our self-paced LBCC Teach Online Seminar 3.0 \(TOS 3.0\) or
 - o Option 2) Online Teaching Certification Waiver – This requirement can be waived with submission & approval of Online Teaching Pedagogy Certification from another institution or through an organization such as @One which is equivalent to our Teach Online Seminar.

2. REQUIRED: Canvas Learning Management System (LMS) Certification.
The options are:
 - o Option 1) completing our LBCC Introduction to Teaching with Canvas self-paced course and receiving the certification badge for completion
 - o Option 2) by submitting a Canvas Certification Waiver – This requirement can be waived with submission & approval of Canvas Certification from another institution or through an organization such as @One which is equivalent to our Growing with Canvas course.

PLEASE NOTE: Online Teaching Pedagogy Certification (i.e. TOS 3.0) is focused on pedagogical approaches to Distance Learning and is not the same as Canvas LMS training.

Michael Robertson, Online Education Faculty Coordinator, is the training facilitator for both of these courses. Do not hesitate to contact him with questions about the trainings: mrobertson@lbcc.edu.
