2 Accessibility

In collaboration with @ONE, the CCC Accessibility Center has designed a series of free, online micro-courses in Canvas that focus on accessibility best practices. These courses focus on the basic practices for creating accessible content and instructional materials to support access for students with disabilities and all members of the campus community.

Visit https://cccaccessibility.org/training/self-paced-accessibility-courses to access courses such as:

▸ Alternate Media Workflow Strategies for PDF
▸ Canvas Accessibility
▸ Microsoft Word Accessibility
▸ PDF Accessibility
▸ PowerPoint Accessibility
▸ Video Captioning

4 Canvas Training

The LBCC website has links to several resources on using the District's Learning Management System, Canvas, including help guides and videos: https://www.lbcc.edu/post/canvas-resources-coronavirus.

A good place to start is the self-paced course "Growing with Canvas." Canvas training also is available through the CCCCO Vision Resource Center (#1 above).

5 Equity Trainings and Resources

Click here for information about equity-minded trainings and resources to support making culturally relevant decisions, nurturing diverse communities, communicating intentionally and inclusively, and building high-impact digital communities.

6 LBCC Technology Trainings

LBCC also offers online technology trainings. Click here to check the upcoming schedule, and if none are currently scheduled, please check back periodically.

For general technology information, click here for LBCC's IT Help Guides.

7 25Live

25Live is a software program used to reserve LBCC rooms for classes and events. It is also the required method for submitting Facilities event set-up requests, publishing to the College Calendar, and generating customized reports.

To get users up to speed, OAS will now be offering online and virtual training sessions for new and intermediate users to learn about 25Live, as well as new topics which will be more relevant and helpful to enhance current 25Live skill sets.

To access information on the new self-paced or instructor-led virtual training schedule and 25Live resources, please click this link: 25Live Training & Resources.
